MERRY CHRISTMAS AND HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Russia Other Points of View

The Economist recently published a somewhat overly pessimistic assessment of the state of Russia. As usual the extent of criticism of Russia was not matched by that of the much darker situation in China, where neither the imprisoned pro-democracy activist Liu Xibao nor his wife were allowed to travel to Oslo to receive the former's Nobel Peace Prize.

Russian journalist cleared of slander in road controversy

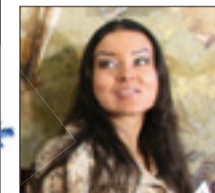

A Russian court overturned a slander verdict against Mikhail Beketov, a crusading journalist who was severely beaten after criticising the construction of a government-backed road through mature woodland near Moscow.

«Victoria Kovalenchikova: a brave artist and an ambitious gallery owner»

A young but distinguished artist, Victoria was born in Belarus where she studied and had her first exhibitions. Her excellent technique and expressive style quickly gained recognition. She moved to Amsterdam 2,5 years ago and made the next step – opened her gallery. Her works were recently presented in London at Art Bizarre Salon. We talked to Victoria about the vital elements of success.
